DAILY DEPARTURES — MAY 15 THROUGH SEPTEMBER 30

First Day — Kotzebue — Nome

Depart this morning from Anchorage International Airport aboard Alaska Airlines' Golden Nugget service to the Eskimo village of Kotzebue, high above the Arctic Circle. Mt. McKinley is normally visible on this flight, so don't forget your camera. Several interesting stops will be made en route. You will fly parallel to the International Date Line and will pass within 150 miles of East Cape, Siberia. West of your flight line, it is only 54 miles across Bering Strait from Alaska to Russian territory.

Stand by for a real thrill. You are about to enter the realm of the Midnight Sun when you cross the Arctic Circle, a parallel of latitude 23 degrees 30 minutes distance from the North Pole. You will receive an attractive certificate, suitable for framing, to commemorate your crossing of the Arctic Circle. From this point on, the sun is visible 24 hours a day during the longest days of the year, and it is a good thing, for there is so much to see and do inside the captivating Arctic Zone. Upon arrival in Kotzebue you will be met and transferred to the village which hugs the beach of Kotzebue Sound. You will spend two and a half delightful hours seeing Eskimos as they live in the Arctic. During most of the season drying racks are loaded with salmon, tomcod and shee fish. Eskimo hunters bring in whale, seal, walrus and other Arctic game from the land and sea and process it on the beach before your very eyes. Dog teams, sleds, kayaks, oomiaks (large boats), and reindeer are but a few of the interesting facets of Eskimo life you will be able to see and photograph. Then, you leave Kotzebue for a short Golden Nugget flight to Nome on the shores of the Bering Sea. You will be met and transferred to your hotel. Overnight in Nome.

Second Day — Nome — Anchorage

Days are difficult to distinguish in the Arctic because it doesn't get dark at night. However, during your 24-hour visit in Nome you will visit with the King Island Eskimos in their village adjacent to Nome. These wonderful people travel to Nome each Spring from their Bering Sea island home, some 80 miles distant. They will entertain you with authentic Eskimo dances handed down from generation to generation. You will also witness the unique Eskimo blanket toss, a competitive sport activity which provides thrills for participants and spectators alike. Ride on the Bering Sea in an Eskimo oomiak (large skin boat), the Eskimos will demonstrate their ancient art of ivory carving, done with primitive tools as well as modern innovations. Visitors will have a chance of a life time to ride in a real Eskimo dog sled (in the summertime on wheels).

Relive the famous Nome gold rush days — walk along the beach once crowded with 40,000 men and women seeking their fortunes, pan for gold as they did then. You may keep all you find. Other points of interest will include the modern gold dredges, furs being processed and made into clothes, and your guide will fully acquaint you with the stories and history of a bygone day.

You will find the shopping irresistible, with gold, ivory, jade and fur to choose from. Since each item is hand-made by local craftsmen, no two items are alike.

The Arctic is truly different. An unforgettable experience closes with your afternoon departure by Alaska Airlines' Golden Nugget service to Anchorage.
