On Maundy Thursday (12th) religious celebrations are held during the evening, commemorating the institution of the Holy Eucharist. Late on Thursday evening and during the morning of Good Friday, parishioners pay homage (in groups or individually) to the Blessed Sacrament venerated at a specially-decorated side altar put up in all churches of each parish. Last Supper Displays are held in various parishes and are open to the public between Wednesday evening and Friday morning. On Good Friday (13th) church services are held in the afternoon, starting at 3p.m. Good Friday pageants, including several life-size statues carried shoulder-high and depicting scenes from the Passion and death of Our Lord, together with participants personifying Old Testament characters, all dressed in Biblical contemporary costumes, are held in 14 towns and villages.

Easter Sunday - The Easter Vigil church service starts at about 8p.m. on Saturday evening. Early morning processions with the statue of the Risen Christ are held in various towns and villages. It is still customary for children to have their 'figolla' blessed by the 'Risen Christ' during the procession which traditionally is held at a very quick pace indeed. The 'figolla' is a special sweet for Easter.

Feast of St Peter and St Paul - public holiday.

The feast is more popularly known as Mnarja. It is traditionally a harvest festival, the origins of which are lost in the midst of time. It is still held at Buskett, a wooded park not far from Mdina, Malta's medieval capital.

The festivities open on the eve, when open-air folk singing and folk music competitions are held at Buskett Gardens. Maltese dishes are served on the occasion, but fried rabbit is the order of the evening.

An agrarian show is held during the morning on the 29th

June. Horse and donkey races, ridden bareback, are held in the afternoon near Mdina. The races bring the festivities to an end. Mnarja is derived from "Luminaria", meaning illumination, because in times gone by, the bastions around Mdina used to be illuminated by bonfires to mark the event.
