Transwede Airways - An Airline of Today

If you have the choice wouldn't you prefer to fly with an environmentally friendly airline? If so, you should consider choosing Transwede Airways of Sweden.

Our flagship aircraft is the Fokker 100, the most silent aircraft of its type which also uses the least fuel, only 0.3 litres per 10 km.

Value for money is our trademark, and with lower fuel consumption, we are able to offer our passengers lower prices, whilst ensuring the in-flight comfort, product, quality and service excellence, which our discerning customers expect.

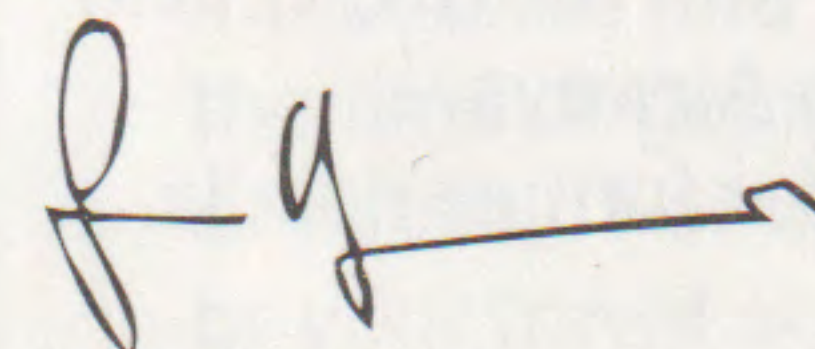

At Transwede, we have established the highest standards of security. Our technicians and engineers are dedicated to the maintenance of those exacting specifications by staying at the cutting edge of industry innovation and the latest digital techniques. For example, Transwede is the only airline equipped with the CAT III landing system which, provided the airport offers the compatible technology, as in the case at Gatwick, enables the aircraft to land in zero visibility.

Experience tells us that our customers like the "personal touch" that only a small airline, like Transwede, can genuinely offer. We know that your trip, whether for business, or for leisure, can be profoundly influenced by your travel experience and so we aim to make your trip as enjoyable as possible.

In 1992, Swedish deregulation allowed us to expand our domestic network, which now includes seven destinations, as well as continuing to fly to about 30 locations in a charter capacity. And since 1991, we have also offered our international scheduled service to London, Gatwick, which now claims about 25% of the London to Stockholm business.

Although we are proud of our individual and uniquely Swedish appeal, we have grown and developed through establishing strategic partnerships with fellow airlines, to better serve our customers, wherever they may wish to travel. Through our colleagues, Lufthansa, Finnair and American Airlines, Transwede now connects with an impressive 300 destinations worldwide.

Welcome to Transwede!
