The skin drum, made of walrus stomach, is the only musical instrument the Eskimo uses. The beat of this drum and the rhythmic chant of the musicians provide background for centuries old stories told in colorful Eskimo native dances you'll witness at Nome and Kotzebue.

DAILY DEPARTURES — MAY 15 THROUGH SEPTEMBER 30

First Day — Kotzebue / Nome

Depart this morning from Anchorage International Airport aboard ALASKA AIRLINES' Golden Nugget service . . . your destination the Eskimo village of Kotzebue, high above the Arctic Circle. Mt. McKinley is normally visible on this flight so have your camera handy. During a brief stop in Nome you will be issued a colorful Eskimo parka for your exclusive use while you are in the Arctic.

Stand by for a real thrill. You are about to enter the realm of the Midnight Sun. You will fly parallel to the International Date Line and will pass within 150 miles of East Cape, Siberia. West of your flight line, it is only 54 miles across Bering Strait to Russian Territory.

You have crossed the Arctic Circle. You will receive an attractive certificate, suitable for framing, to commemorate your crossing. From this point on, the sun is visible 24 hours a day during the longest days of the year. Upon arrival at Kotzebue you will be met by your Tour Guide and given a complete sightseeing tour. This Eskimo village hugs the beach and numbers approximately 1400 Eskimos. Among the features included in your tour will be a visit to a real Eskimo sod hut or igloo. During most of the season drying racks are loaded with Salmon, Tomcod and Shee Fish. Eskimo hunters bring in whale, seal, walrus and other Arctic game. You see it all on the beach. Dog teams, sleds, kayaks, oomiaks (skin boats) are but a few of the interesting facets of Eskimo life you will be able to see and photograph. Then you leave Kotzebue for a short flight to Nome on the shores of the Bering Sea.

Upon arrival at Nome you will be met by your Tour Guide and transferred to your hotel. The balance of the day will be entertaining beyond expectation. You will have an opportunity to ride in a real Eskimo skin boat (oomiak). Time is allowed for dinner and shopping before you are treated to a performance of authentic Eskimo dancing, even more exciting than the photograph in this folder indicates.

Second Day — Nome / Anchorage

Good morning! Days are difficult to distinguish in the Arctic because it doesn't get dark at night. However, during your stay in Nome you will visit the King Island Eskimos in their village adjacent to Nome. These wonderful people travel to Nome each spring from their Bering Sea island home, some 80 miles distant. The dances you saw last night were handed down from generation to generation as is the skill you will witness when you see the ivory carvers. This carving is done with primitive tools, as well as modern innovations. You will also witness the unique Eskimo blanket toss, a competitive sport activity which provides thrills for participants and spectators alike. Have you ever experienced a dogsled ride in a real Eskimo sled pulled by a team of huskies? Well, here is your opportunity, which again, has been enjoyed by but very few visitors.

Relive the famous Nome gold rush days . . . walk along the beach once crowded with 40,000 men and women seeking their fortunes. Pan for gold as they did then. You may keep all you find. Other points of interest will include the modern gold dredges, homes of several famous Americans and shops chock full of interesting souvenirs and artifacts. You will find the shopping irresistible with gold, ivory, jade and fur to choose from.

The Arctic is truly different. An unforgettable experience closes with an afternoon departure of ALASKA AIRLINES' Golden Nugget service to Anchorage. Tour terminates upon arrival at Anchorage.
