Chicago and Southern Today... its plans for Tomorrow

◆ Since June, 1933, Chicago and Southern passenger transports have flown more than 15,000,000 miles, an average of more than 1,500,000 revenue miles a year... carried over 5,000,000 pounds of mail and about 1,000,000 pounds of express throughout Middle America.

Tomorrow Chicago and Southern planes may fly to many new places, link the East Indies with the West Indies... Detroit with Mexico City... Chicago with Rio and Houston with Nome... The map shows present day operations and post-war plans, placing emphasis in the international field on routes out of Chicago, New Orleans and Houston. Chicago and Southern's applications for new airways now total nearly 44,000 miles... a most ambitious program... yet sound and practical.

If your trip justifies a priority, you should obtain one.

A system of air travel priorities has been established by the Army to expedite military and civilian travel essential to the war. In recent months the number of priority travelers has increased greatly, and delays to non-priority passengers occur frequently.

If your trip justifies a priority, you should obtain one; otherwise your flight may be interrupted to provide space for priority travelers. In such an event Chicago and Southern Air Lines will endeavor to obtain space for you on later air schedules or trains, although heavy wartime travel may make this difficult and in some cases impossible.

In any event, should your flight be interrupted Chicago and Southern Air Lines will help minimize the cost to you by assuming normal hotel and meal expense for a 24-hour period.

Chicago and Southern regrets that in meeting the space demands necessarily imposed by the priority system your trip may be interrupted, and we want to explain this problem to you frankly. We feel sure our patrons realize the importance of insuring utmost speed to travelers and cargo on missions essential to winning the war.
