PLANE FACTS

Q. How do I make an airline reservation?
A. Simply call the local office of Chicago and Southern. Tell the reservation agent where you want to go and how many people will be included. He will handle the rest and give you immediate confirmation. If your destination is not on the C & S System, he will make reservations for you with the correct airline.

Q. When should reservations be made?
A. Make your reservation as far in advance as possible, in person or by telephone, and try to pick up your tickets early. If you change plans, don't forget to cancel your reservation. If you don't, some other passenger may not be able to secure a seat. When you make the proper cancellations and free your seat for another traveler, you are giving him and the airline the cooperation that will enable C & S to accommodate you and others at all times.

Q. Who makes up the crew?
A. On all C & S planes, the crew consists of a pilot, co-pilot, and stewardess. These people have been trained most thoroughly at our special training schools. Periodically they are given refresher courses and are constantly kept abreast of new aviation developments. Many of our pilots have flown over a million miles, and all are experts in such matters as flight planning, weather observation, radio control, navigation, and instrument flying. Stewardesses are completely schooled in the art of preparing and serving meals, helping with children, and dispensing information. They are with us to help YOU.

The rates are usually from 50 cents to one dollar. When you reach your destination, transportation will be waiting to take you downtown.

Q. What do I do on reaching the airport?
A. Be sure to check in at the C & S ticket office there before boarding your plane. The agent there will give you final boarding information.

Q. How much luggage am I allowed to take on the plane?
