Passenger

BETWEEN the nation's capital and Cleveland in three hours... high above the grime and inconvenience of ordinary travel... the planes of Pennsylvania Airlines speed on frequent daily schedules.

You will ride most comfortably in these fast tri-motored airliners, which are equipped with two-way radio, all the latest aids to navigation, and every modern convenience for the comfort of passengers. When you travel in this way you receive the benefit of six years' experience in air transportation, for Pennsylvania Airlines is one of the oldest airlines in the country, and has been a government air mail contractor since 1927.

Express

Use air express to speed up delivery of your packages... Pennsylvania Airlines is associated with the group of airlines which comprise GENERAL AIR EXPRESS, the Interline System, with over 17,000 miles of airways, permitting the shipper fast day and night service between cities on its system and all points throughout the nation and air, rail and bus connections to Canada, Mexico, Central and South Americas and the West Indies.

Through routing on a single waybill and the lowest air express rates, which include special pick-up and delivery by Postal Telegraph, are the reasons for the tremendous monthly increase in Air Express shipments being shown by all airlines.

Air Mail

If your letters are important, use air mail and be sure that they will arrive, be delivered, and be answered first. Air mail travels three to four times faster than surface mail, and reaches every city, for if the destination is not located on an air mail line, the letters continue by train from the nearest airport. Any stamps may be used, but letters should be marked AIR MAIL and may be mailed in any mail box. Your local postmaster will be glad to furnish you detailed information applying to your city.
