IT'S THE SAME FINE SERVICE

COLONIAL has been proud of its Bermuda service through the years — proud to call it “first-class” service, proud of having only 44 seats in the main cabin plus a sky lounge for eight, proud of complimentary hot full-course meals, and proud of an unbroken 22-year record of safety.

The countries involved have approved a tariff which makes it mandatory to charge at least a “first-class” rate of $115 or a “tourist” rate of $90 round trip for flights between New York-Philadelphia-Washington and Bermuda. The $90 rate requires that meals be charged for, but forbids the proud claim of “first-class.”

COLONIAL'S choice was difficult. But a nominal meal cost of $1.75 each way would mean a total of $93.50 or $21.50 (plus $3.75 tax) less than if meals were free! And the cabin would be equally comfortable, the service equally personal and thoughtful, and the flight crews still specialists in finding the smoothest course over the Gulf Stream (because they have a navigator and only fly this route)—regardless of price.

COLONIAL thought it was sensible to use the $90 fare, even though the only change was to charge for meals. We hope you will agree the choice was right, and be pleased with the same fine service on a Colonial Skycruiser to Beautiful Bermuda.

Continuing

THE OWL FAMILY Colonial is pleased to continue its experiment in late night coach service at thrift rates. You save one-third or more on one-way trips by traveling at a time when our aircraft would normally be idle — yet fly in regular planes with standard crews minus only service frills.
