GOOD NEWS FOR MODERN TRAVELERS

NOW you can travel picturesque Down East in the new way—The Sky Route. This service offers you an opportunity to fly to, from or between Eastern New England and the Maritime Provinces of Canada, in luxurious comfort. Far above traffic jams, heat and dust, you can relax and breathe pure, cool air.

From the cosmopolitan skyline of Boston to the forest-studded shores of Maine, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, a treasure chest of new views awaits you. Rockbound coasts, fringed with waters of shaded blues—shores dotted with summer cottages—emerald harbors strewn with wooded islands—quaint villages nestled in cool, green valleys—rugged primeval shorelines—foam-lashed cliffs—in one hour you can see a lifetime of scenic beauty if you travel The Sky Route. Undreamed-of spectacles are yours when you see the earth as the clouds see it—and, remember—vacation time saved, is pleasure earned; business time saved, is money earned.

THE DAILY SERVICE

The Boston & Maine and Maine Central Railroads, two of New England's principal transportation systems, in cooperation with the Pan American Airways Company, sponsor the daily passenger services between Boston, Portland, Rockland and Bangor. Both railroads have the highest record for conservative and safe management; and this new air service, with all passenger traffic being handled by the railroads' organization and ticket offices, typifies the progressive spirit of these two Roads.

THE TRI-WEEKLY SERVICE

Pan American Airways Company, division of the World's Greatest Air Transportation System, operates on its own behalf (and independent of the railroads), the tri-weekly passenger service between Boston, Portland, Bangor, Calais, St. John and Halifax in addition to supplying equipment, operating management and mail service on the Boston-Portland-Rockland-Bangor daily service.

INAUGURATION DATE

Passenger and Air Mail service will be formally inaugurated from Boston Airport Saturday, August 1, 1931.

SPEED—COMFORT— DEPENDABILITY

The luxurious airliners used on this sky route are the same dependable types as those operated by the World's Greatest Air Transportation System on the Pan American Airways routes over the West Indies, Bahamas, Central and South America. These immaculate greyhounds of the air are now waiting to serve you as they have served discriminating travelers between southern resorts.

Each airliner is multi-motored and capable of sustained flight with one motor idle. The roomy cabins, restful chairs, full vision windows and modern toilet facilities provide for luxurious comfort. Veteran pilots, with thousands of hours of air transport experience—men of proved judgment—make up the flight personnel. Powerful radio apparatus, manned by a licensed radio operator, is to be found on every airliner. Constant two-way radio communication is maintained throughout the flights, enabling pilots to receive weather reports every few minutes.
