A Few Words about Northeast Airlines

From the day of our inaugural flight Northeast Airlines has striven to provide adequate, convenient service to many New England cities and communities, as well as Montreal and the Maritime Provinces. It is our aim today, despite allocation of men and equipment to the war effort, to continue and better that service, and by doing so help these areas grow and prosper.

Since the early months of 1942, when Northeast, like other U. S. airlines, sent most of its fleet to war, it has not always been possible for us to offer the excellence in passenger accommodations or the dependability in schedules characteristic of pre-war air travel. There has, however, never been any compromise with our high standards of maintenance and operations. We add, confidently, there never will be!

This new schedule of flights on all our routes is but one example of our constant endeavors to please and accommodate you, the changes being a direct result of passengers' suggestions. You know what you want — if it is possible, Northeast is resolved to give you the most convenient air service in and out of New England.

We look to the future with confidence, for with the opening of our frequent non-stop flights between Boston and New York this spring, Northeast Airlines truly becomes the Wings of New England. Later, as soon as more flight equipment is available, we will serve the industrial cities of Worcester and Waterbury on one route, New Bedford on another. We also plan in the near future the already-heralded "Mayflower Route", Boston to Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket. Direct New York service from Maine and New Hampshire will prove invaluable to these industrial, agricultural and recreational areas. Yes, Northeast Airlines are the Wings of New England.

We invite your patronage; we accept your suggestions for we know that your ultimate aim, like ours, is that New England has the finest service in air travel. The next time it is necessary for you to travel, go Northeast — you'll be assured of comfort, of saving time. Northeast travelers do more in less time.

Along with our new, modern Statler Hotel office in Boston — that's in addition to our established location at the Copley-Plaza — you'll find a complete listing of all information and reservation offices on this schedule. Call the one nearest you — Northeast Airlines is at your service for your convenience.
