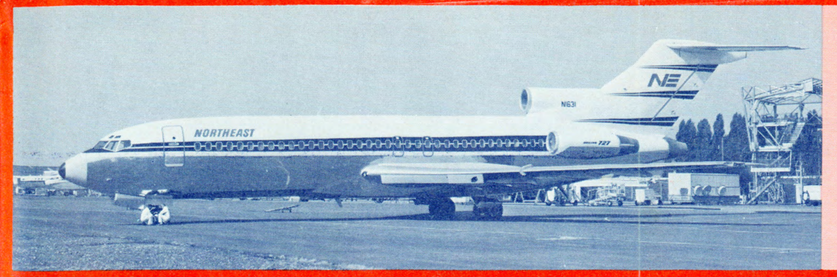
NE NORTHEAST AIRLINES

Eff. September 13, 1965



BOEING 727. This is the highly successful fan jet that has built up a record of over 125 million air miles. It's the latest addition to Northeast's present fleet of Convair Super Jets. In operation beginning this winter, the Standard 727 will carry up to 96 passengers.

To Bring You The Best In Jet Travel
NORTHEAST Invests One Hundred Million Dollars

NORTHEAST IS REALLY GOING PLACES.
TO GIVE YOU THE FINEST IN AIR TRAVEL, COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE,
NORTHEAST HAS ORDERED 22 NEW JET TRANSPORTS WITH OPTIONS ON 10 MORE . . .

12 Boeing 727's For The Long Haul

For its longer routes, Northeast has chosen the highly successful Boeing 727 tri-jet transport. Six of the 12 ordered are Standard 727's. The remaining six will be Super 727's which are longer but can still operate on runways that are only 6-7000 feet long. Although they seat 170 passengers, Northeast will carry only 145 — 20 first class and 125 tourist. Two of the Standard 727's will be operating before the first of the year.

10 Douglas DC-9's For In-Between Points

For its medium and shorter routes, Northeast has ordered ten DC-9's, the twin-jet transport that opens up jet travel to areas now served only by propeller-driven planes. The DC-9's are advance Model 30's which are longer and larger than the Model 10's now in final development phase. These DC-9's are designed for relatively short runways and operate efficiently at ranges from 100 to 1500 miles.

It all adds up to better service for you . . . now and in the months ahead . . . on "NORTHEAST, the airline that's really going places."

DC-9 MODEL 30. Ten of these fan jets will fly medium to short routes. They bring jet travel to relatively short airfields because high lift devices provide increased lift during takeoff. These twin jets cruise at 560 m.p.h. and seat 115 passengers.
